

In my opinion, cell phone use on the airplane during flight, would be an intrusion on all passengers. Some people use their time in the air to relax or read a book or catch up on paperwork. The certainly do not want to sit next to someone chatting on the phone.

It would also be a safety issue if there were an emergency, people using their phones would probably not hear information given by the flight deck or the flight attendants